

RITE NOW @ ROP

Giving back to the community is a core tenet at Sierra Ridge Academy, and all year students and staff work together to find unique philanthropic opportunities that benefit local charity organizations.

During the holiday season, SRA places an even greater emphasis on “giving back,” promoting the values of charity and goodwill on campus. Students were eager to participate in this year’s annual “Caroling-for-Cans” charity event – a chance for students to spread holiday cheer while collecting canned food donations for the local food bank. The RAM students who frequent the food bank for weekly community service, raised over forty pounds in food donations that will benefit families in the San Andreas community this holiday season.

Sierra Ridge Academy wishes everyone a wonderful winter and happy holiday season, and is proud to be able to make a positive impact in this season of giving.
